Exams: All exams will be in class. The tentative exam dates are Thursday, February 11, Thursday, March 10, and Thursday, April 21. I will communicate any changes in class and in writing. The final exam will be on Thursday, May 5, from 10:00 a.m. to 11:50 a.m. in our usual classroom. You must tell me in writing by Thursday, April 28, if you have a university-approved conflict with the final exam time; if you do not meet that deadline, you may not be allowed to take a conflict exam, and if you are, you will have your score decreased up to 15% as a penalty. I cannot give a conflict exam if you do not have a university-approved conflict. Make up exams are available only if permission is given by me prior to the regularly scheduled exam.

Homework: It is impossible to learn calculus without practicing it. Homework will be assigned after each class period. You are expected to complete all homework by announced due dates in class, and I do not accept late homework, nor do I drop any grades. You can ask me if you have extenuating circumstances; I will be more generous if it is a one-time problem. You will use WebAssign to do a lot of the computational homework, and you will have written assignments as well. You should print out the WebAssign assignment well in advance of the due date and write your work on paper before trying to enter answers online. Computer or network difficulties will not be excused for late homework. You are encouraged to work with others, but be sure to write up your own solutions.

Grading: There are two schemes, and for each student, I will pick the one that gives the higher grade.

Scheme 1	Scheme 2
3 hour exams 15% each	3 hour exams 10% each
Final exam 25%	Final exam 40%
WebAssign homework 20%	WebAssign homework 20%
Written homework 10%	Written homework 10%

Earning a score of 90% guarantees an A for the semester, 80% a B, 70% a C, and 60% a D. I reserve the right to use discretion if you are on the borderline between two grades, taking into consideration performance on the last exam, improvement or decline during the semester, attendance, and my subjective judgment of your effort.

Attendance: You are expected to attend class regularly.

Office hours: I encourage you to take advantage of these hours to get help with the course material.

Special Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: If any member of this class feels that he/she has a disability and needs special accommodations of any nature whatsoever, I will work with you and the Office of Student Disability Services, 315 Student Union, to provide reasonable accommodations to ensure that you have a fair opportunity to perform in the class. Please advise me of such disability and the desired accommodations at some point before, during, or immediately after the first scheduled class period.

Academic Dishonesty/Misconduct: The university has explicit rules governing academic dishonesty and academic misconduct. The policies are detailed in the document Student Rights and Responsibilities Governing Student Behavior. It is available from the Deans Offices, the Provosts Office and various other places around campus. The university policies will be followed in this class. In this class, copying on quizzes or exams or allowing someone to copy off of you may result in an F! for the course. Copying or allowing someone to copy your work on homework carries a penalty of up to 10 percentage points off your semester homework grade in the first instance and an F! in the class in a second instance.
