

Error Correcting Codes

Dr. Nate Lesnevich

Every time you enter a credit card number or scan a barcode, a hidden piece of arithmetic checks whether one of the digits was mistyped. We'll see how these numbers can check themselves for typos, and then look at a slightly smarter scheme that catches the errors that the first one misses.